Development and Peace Education Campaign: "Solidarity, the future is in our hands" Sign this message of solidarity for small-scale farmers today! The effects of climate change are already a daily reality for many people, especially the poorest and most vulnerable, and for small-scale farmers around the world. Industrial agriculture contributes in part to climate change through land conversion and deforestation, production models that require extensive use of fossil fuels, and the processing, packaging and transport of food. We support small-scale farmers around the world who are working for sustainable small-scale agriculture, genuine land reform, and a change in production and consumption patterns. By signing this card, you are expressing your solidarity with small-scale farmers who urgently request the promotion of agricultural models that will enable them to feed their communities, participate in the fight against climate change, and improve their living conditions. Cards will be available to sign after Mass or may be signed online at www.devp.org by clicking on fall campaign.

Have you heard about the Revised Roman Missal? (#9 in a series of 12)
*Who is doing the work involved in translating the Roman missal from Latin to English?

Many different groups of people are involved in the translation which is one of the reasons it is taking so long. The ICEL (International Commission on English in the Liturgy) is the major body whose job is to prepare English translations of liturgical texts on behalf of the Conferences of Bishops in English-speaking countries. Currently there are eleven Conferences of Bishops that are full of members of the Commission: Australia, Canada, England and Wales, India, Ireland, New Zealand, Pakistan, Philippines, Scotland, South Africa, and the United States. The ICEL staff and bishops work together to produce a first draft of the Missal which is then sent to each Conference of Bishops. These drafts are called green books. The bishops respond with comments and suggestions to the ICEL. A second draft is issued, which is called the grey book. It is again sent to the Conference of Bishops for approval. This is then sent to the Vatican for final approval. Once the document reaches the Vatican, it is scrutinized by the Congregation of Divine Worship and the Discipline of the Sacraments. They give their first approval which is called the recognition and grant permission for the use of the document.
