ALL SAINT'S AND ALL SOUL'S DAY IN THE ANGLOPHONE REGION

On this day let us revive in ourselves an attraction toward Heaven that calls us to carry on in our earthly pilgrimage. Let us lift in our hearts the desire to always unite ourselves to the family of the saints, of which we already have the grace to be a part. As a celebrated "spiritual" song says: "When the saints go marching in, oh how I'd want, Lord, to be in their number!" Pope Benedict XVI

ALL SAINTS: Tuesday, November 1st

- St. Raymond's (3 Halifax, Candiac) 9:30 am
- St. Augustine's (105 de Cherbourg, St. Bruno) 7:00 pm
- Good Shepherd (7900 Naples, Brossard) 7:30 pm

Let us today renew our hope in eternal life, one really drawn in the death and resurrection of Christ. "I am risen and now I am always with you," the Lord tells us, and my hand sustains you. Wherever you might fall, you will fall in my hands and I will be present even at the gate of death. Where none can accompany you any longer and where you can bring nothing, there I await you to transform for you darkness into light. Pope Benedict XVI

ALL SOULS: Wednesday, November 2nd

Have you heard about the Revised Roman Missal? (#7 in a series of 12)

What was wrong with the less formal, more conversational style we have been using since Vatican II?

A more exact translation from Latin into English is important for several reasons: The language of this revised translation will be more similar to that which we hear in Scriptures. Thus, connections between the Scriptures and the Mass texts will be easier to make. Many of the original phrases used in Latin were altered or lost in the English translations. The revised English translation will bring us closer to the translations used by many other cultural and language groups and will connect us linguistically* to other Catholics throughout the world. The English versions of many of our liturgical texts are used as the base language by a number of other countries to guide their own translations. Therefore, it is important that the English translation be as precise and as close to the original as possible. Even in this modern technological age, words are important. During liturgical celebrations, we should pray what we believe, and believe what we pray. In order to do this, translations need to be authentic and accurate.
